CONSULTATION TO SCHOOLS AND AGENCIES

The following accomplishments represent a sample of the consultation services EMC has provided to schools and agencies:

Alpine Board of Education – Reviewed and analyzed the district's management structure, staff accountability, curriculum-delivery systems, and programs with respect to costs and comparisons with similar districts. Presented recommendations in each of these areas to improve management systems and student performance, and to reduce costs and risks of litigation.

Asbury Park Board of Education – Conducted a comprehensive organizational review and analysis of educational programs. Assessed the effectiveness of the administrative model, the child study team process, student programs, and other support services. Presented a comprehensive plan of improvement that included administrative restructuring, resulting in significant budget savings.

Bloomington Board of Education – Developed and implemented a comprehensive review and analysis of the quality and efficiency of the student- and teacher-support system. Evaluated the management, structure, and procedures of the district's instructional programs and analyzed the implementation of legal requirements for these programs. Presented a comprehensive evaluation report with quality-improvement and cost-reduction recommendations.

Dunellen Board of Education – Reviewed and analyzed the management of the Division of Special Services and of the roles of the superintendent and director of special education. Assessed the quality of student- and teacher-support services and of relationships between staff and service providers. Reviewed program costs and litigation risk factors. Presented a comprehensive evaluation report with recommendations for program and management improvement.

Emerson Board of Education – Designed and conducted a comprehensive review and analysis of educational programs and services. Reviewed student learning, organization structure, and staff accountability policies and procedures.

International School of Aleppo, Syria – Consulted with the superintendent, administrator, and staff about the development of programs and services for students with learning and behavior problems and for those who are at risk of failing in school. Evaluated the school's capacity for program development and recommended a unique administrative structure and programs to meet student and teacher needs. Presented a graduate-level course on teaching and supervising students with special needs.

Keypoint Township Board of Education – Designed and conducted a comprehensive review and analysis of the administration of the district. Interviewed regular and special-education staff, administrators, students, and parents. Reviewed curricula and support services, and observed programs and staff meetings. Presented a comprehensive evaluation report with recommendations for improving management.

Lakewood Board of Education – Reviewed and analyzed preschool and early-childhood programs and services for students with disabilities. Assessed whether the curriculum, program options, organizational structure, and delivery of services met professional standards in the fields of education and special education.

Lawrence Township Board of Education – Developed a comprehensive strategic plan for system change to improve support for pupils with disabilities in general-education programs. Provided training materials to enable staff to implement this plan.

Lincoln School, San Jose, Costa Rica – Designed and presented a seminar to train staff about educating students with disabilities. Consulted with management to analyze school organization.

Little Ferry Board of Education – Reviewed and analyzed the district's organizational structure and its systems of accountability for student learning. Revised job functions and descriptions, established accountability systems, and recommended major policy and procedural modifications.

Marlboro Township Board of Education – Conducted a comprehensive review and analysis of programs, services, and management. Reviewed pupil records, district policies, and procedures; interviewed staff, students, and parents; observed school programs and staff meetings. Presented a comprehensive evaluation report with recommendations for improving programs and management.

Ramapo Indian Hills Board of Education – Reviewed and analyzed the district's administrative structure. Developed and implemented a comprehensive management plan and provided on-site management of school services. The subsequent provision of services brought the district into full legal compliance with federal- and state-mandated services for students with disabilities.

Ridgewood Board of Education – Consulted on the redesign of all major instructional and management systems related to at-risk students and students with disabilities. Recommended policy and procedural modifications and the implementation of staff-development programs. Conducted training in instructional organization and education law for staff and parents.
