Analysis

Remote collections can be a smarter, faster and less expensive option, and we excel at them.

We are close to your location for onsite collections when necessary, with forensic labs strategically located across the country.

At QDiscovery, our forensic investigators and project managers work together as part of your case team.

This collaboration leads to innovative solutions, like QMobile Insight, a revolutionary new way to review texts, chats and other mobile data in Relativity, the same way you review email.

Digital forensic approach

We offer extensive and flexible forensic analysis. Whether you need a simple collection report, in-depth forensic analysis to uncover the truth in your data or expert testimony, our forensic experts have you covered.

Investigators are employees

We don't outsource forensic investigations. Our team includes seasoned forensic investigators, IT professionals and in-house attorneys - all of whom are our own employees. Our experts have testified in state and federal courts across the country.

Case strategy alignment

Our experts understand investigation and litigation realities and assist you in developing strategies for forensics, analytics, collections and assisted review.
