I had the privilege of being on the ground floor of the child abuse prevention field in the early '80s, working with the C. Henry Kempe National Center for the Prevention and Treatment of Child Abuse and Neglect, and have written many articles, books and curricula to address recognition, prevention and reporting of child abuse (including sexual, physical, emotional and neglect). I also have expertise in the areas of bullying, school safety, special education, and duty to supervise in a wide variety of settings.

Working with schools, religious organizations, community groups and treatment facilities, I have a deep and historically accurate understanding of the standard of care, policies and procedures, training, and supervision consistent with protecting children as they have evolved over time.

I have extensive experience in cases involving child abuse and bullying in institutional settings (i.e. schools, churches, foster care, youth groups, day care, treatment centers, residential facilities and hospitals), failure to properly train and supervise staff, failure to supervise children, child injury and death cases, abuse by teachers, clergy or staff members and child-on-child abuse. I am qualified to assess standard of care, policies, procedures, best practices and questions of negligence.

Since 1992, I have worked nationally for plaintiffs and defendants alike. Understanding the issues on both sides, I am able to review your case and advise you on the strength of the evidence, areas for further discovery, deposition, and trial preparation. As a forensic expert, I can assist you in asking the right questions to make informed decisions about each case.
